

Psyc 267 Written Assignment: Understanding Your Leadership Style

We will be spending a fair bit of time learning about leadership in this course. As we do so, you will assess your own leadership style by filling out four different leadership scales designed to assess leadership style from five different theoretical perspectives. You will also fill out a scale that will assess your preferred style for dealing with conflict.

PLEASE NOTE: You should NOT fill out SECTION E of the leadership questionnaire; only do Sections A, B, C, & D.

You will write a reflective essay in which you analyze your own personal style of leadership. In your essay, identify which one of the leadership scale(s) seemed to be the best at helping you think about your leadership style and explain why you think that is the case. Also, describe how your style of dealing with conflict might affect the way you would manage people. Describe what you think your leadership style is, and identify the situations in which you think you would perform best as a leader. Finally, discuss whether the results of the various leadership scales confirmed things that you already believed about yourself or whether they are at odds with your self-perception of yourself as a leader.

Please remember that the Psychology Department Writing Policy will be enforced on this assignment.
